OBITUARY.

Dwight Baldwin.

Dwight Baldwin, formerly of Danielson, died at his home in Providence Tuesday. Mr. Baldwin's death was sudden. He leaves three sisters, Alice, Ella and Hannah, all of Danielson, and one brother, Courtland of Hartford. The wife of the deceased, who was Miss Rosie Snow, has relatives in Danielson.

Water Shortage Affects Mills. Low water in the rivers has brought the inevitable result of forcing the mills in part dependent on water for power to stop some of the machinery. Operatives in the weaving department of the Quinebaug mill have been out part of the time this week because of the water shortage.

Rawley-Palmer Engagement Announced. Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Charlotte Palmer, daughter of Mrs. E. L. Palmer of Main street, and George Rawley of Putnam. Miss Rawley was one of the teachers in the school at Williamsville during the past year.

Burglars Cared for at New Haven. The conviction of the burglars at New Haven that were wanted for cracking the safe in the office of the Attawaugan company, will, of course, prevent their being brought to Danielson and charged with the crime. The men got six years and a half each.

New Floor and Roof Needed. Carpenters are fast repairing the damage caused by the fire of a few weeks ago at the rear of the Evans building on Water street. The burned ## sections have been torn out. A new floor is to be built; also a new roof.

Saturday's Baseball Schedule.

Games scheduled in the Eastern Connecticut and Amateur leagues for Saturday are as follows: Eastern Connecticut—Tri-Village at Taftville, Jewett City at North Grosvenordale; Putnam at Wauregan. Amateur—Wauregan at Sterling, Central Village at Jewett City, Plainfield at Moosup.

Tri-Village Scheme Falls Through. A plan to organize a tri-village baseball association in the town of Plainfield with Wauregan, Central Village and Moosup as the centers of population interested has fallen through and Wauregan will finish out the league season under its present status as an independent organization. The idea was to create a greater interest in the sport in the villages named and gain a greater patronage. Central Village was talked of as the place for playing the games.

Last Drill Next Tuesday. Next Tuesday evening will be the last night for drill for the members of the Thirtieth company, C. A. C., before they go into camp at Fort Mansfield, near Watch Hill. The men are anticipating the trip to the fortification with much pleasure. They have been stationed at this fort during their summer tour of duty for the past three years.

of so many that have sought their fortune in the Black Hills, she gave him up as lost and mourned him as dead.

Mrs. Avev, though uncertain of this, is of the opinion that her brother made his fortune through an invention. He was always of an inventive turn of mind, and Mrs. Avev says that she remembers that he would work late at night on some scheme which he always kept as an absolute secret, and always maintain a strict silence when asked regarding it.

Mrs. Avev learned that her brother was sick in the Los Angeles hospital for eight months previous to his death. Information has also come to her that he was unmarried and that during the long weeks that he lay ill in the hospital he advertised in Los Angeles and other papers for some trace of his relatives.

He was apparently unaware, however, that all of the scattered family none but Mrs. Avev is living. He passed away before she could be found.

Mrs. Avev has taken the proper steps to come into possession of the fine fortune, though she as yet has no knowledge as to whether it is in cash, real estate or other holdings.

suddenly at her home in this city Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Reynolds leaves her husband and three children.

Growing Needs of Hospital. The usual reminder that the Day-Kimball hospital management always appreciate the generosity of friends of the institution who donate preserves, vegetables, etc., is in order at this season. The number of patients at the hospital grows larger with the passing of each year and there is a consequent increase in the use of supplies.

Progress at New High School. The men in the employ of the contracting firm that is to construct the new high school have made good progress in setting the frames into which the concrete for the foundation is to be poured.

Two Strange Boys No Longer Here. The indications are that two strange boys who are suspected of being the parties guilty of breaking into the store of Ballard & Clark and into Franklin's lunch cart early Monday morning, have left this vicinity. They loitered about the outskirts of Putnam in the woods several days previous to the breaks, but they have not since been seen.

Child Family's Biennial Reunion. The biennial reunion of the Child Family association, the members of which are scattered in various quarters of this part of New England, is to be held this year at Laurel Cottage grove, North Woodstock, August 10. Chester E. Child of Putnam is president of the association. Officers are to be elected and committees named at the reunion.

ROUND UP RIGHT AT HOME. Two Putnam Girls Stirred by Visions of Wild West Life, but Were Corralled Before Departing.

There is something about a wild west show that appeals to certain latent instincts in some Putnam girls. Only the vigilance of Officers Herman G. Carver and Patrick Hayes prevented two misses, in neither instance more than 15 years of age, from leaving home with the 101 Ranch show, to become cowgirls. There was a roundup right at home here, however, and the girls were among those rounded up. They had really made preparations to get away, but relatives came to know of the fact and notified the police. It will be remembered that another young Putnam girl made such a commotion last fall when was left behind by the little Indian and wild west outfit that she expected to join after it had completed its engagement at the Putnam fair, that she was sent to the state school for girls, and will remain there until she is 21. One of the girls that wanted to go this week lives at Putnam Heights.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS. And Other Matters to Be Passed Upon by Thompson Voters.

The voters of the town of Thompson have been warned of a special town meeting to be held on July 21, at which they will be called to pass upon the proposal to improve the road leading from the old Boston and Hartford turnpike on Brandy hill to the Massachusetts state line. The meeting will also probably formally accept the beautiful gateway at the East Thompson cemetery, which has been presented to the town by Burton F. Hoyle, by request of Irving J. Hoyle, deceased. Another matter to be passed upon has to do with what action the town will take in reference to the appointment of one or more trustees to hold and disburse for the town of Thompson such funds as may be given to it by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tourtellotte of Minneapolis, donors of the beautiful memorial high school which bears their name.

C. E. Officers. The following are the newly elected officers and committees of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the Congregational church: President, John G. Johnson; vice president, Harold S. Corbin; recording secretary, Harold I. Corbin; corresponding secretary, Harold S. Corbin; treasurer, John A. C. Warner.

Inman, chairman, Edith Johnson, Ernest Lewis, Gladys Murey, Effie Inman, Fredell Randall, Mae Smith; Prayer Meeting, May Wheaton, chairman, Leland Bradley, Alice Fuller, Chrystabel Gifford, Gertrude Hall, Louise Weatherhead, Gertrude Shaw; Social, Mrs. W. J. Bartlett, chairman, Howard Bradford, Marjorie Burgess, Josie Gifford, Hattie Inman, John Warner, Gilbert Perry; Missionary, Lizzie Child, chairman, E. M. Corbin, Gertrude Warner; Flower, Frances L. Warner, chairman, Elizabeth Gifford.

Princess Henry of Pless was Miss Mary Olivia West, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cornwallis-West of Ruthin Castle, in Wales, and Newlands Manor, near Lymington, and she is a sister of the Duchess of Westminster. In Germany her beauty has earned for her the title of the "Fairy Princess."

She is a great rider to hounds and a fine whip, driving a four-in-hand, and occasionally a team of five when in Germany. Her musical talents are not very well known, but she plays very well and has a good voice, which has been trained by the very best European masters. When Princess Henry married, at the age of 18, there was much searching for the coats-of-arms of her ancestors for four generations to enroll in the Pless family book according to the German custom. In length of lineage, however, and blue blood, Princess Henry was as noble as her husband, for the Wests have been lords since the middle ages and earls for many generations.
